

Cornus florida (flowering dogwood) has been designated as the official floral and arboreal emblems of Virginia. What appears to be a solitary flower is actually a sessile cluster of 20 to 30 tiny, yellow-green flowers surrounded by 4 white, petaloid bracts.

© Mary Free